TELEGRAMS. &c.

The sheriff of Obton county, Tennessee, confirms the murder of two deputy sheriffs of that county, by the same inhuman fiend who assassinated Senator Case. The murdered men were staunch Unionists, and the murderer a returned guerrilla. The awful tragedy was the culmination of a bitter political feud which has existed since the war. There is considerable feeling on the subject, and the Legis-lature will not be likely to mince matters in passing a stringent loyal militia bill.

A new gold field has been discovered in the Weddin Moustains, about two hundred and eighty miles from Sydney. New South Wales, which the Government efficials state will give employment to a large number of persons for three or four years. The sinking is about fifty feet through bard soil, and the holes bottomed are yielding an average of five grains per dish.

Advices from Valparaiso to December 19 rive a confirmation of the rumor that Chili has refused the mediation of England and France in the Spanish question. The South American Congress is to meet at Lima, and all the republics that have not given in their adhesion to the league are to be invited. The bark Tecumseh, with sixty cannon for the Valpa paraiso fortifications, had arrived. The Denver News learns from an exploring party which recently ascended Colorado river that that stream is navigable to the mouth of Green river, which is in the boundaries of Colorado. The vessel used by the exploring party was large enough to have carried four such boats as that used by Lieutenant Ives when he explored the river. The Journal, of St. Hyacinth, Canada, says: "The Irish, like the French Canadians, have many reasons for detesting England. It is time the Irish and French Canadians should show the English that they are not desirous of the maintenance of Irish power on this continent. The pappiest day for us will be when we are freed therefrom forever." Trouble has occurred in South Carolina, opposite Savannah, Ga., with the negroes, and the United States troops are there to preserve order. No actual collision has occurred yet. It is reported that two to three hundred negroes are under arms to resist ejectment from plantation. The imports at Montreal, Canada, last year amounted to $29,000,000, and the exports to $8,-500,000. The increase in the value of imports over the previous year was $10,000,000. The quantity of flour exported to the States was 190,000 bbls., agsinst 160,000 bbls. for the previous year. The Senatorial campaign in Kansas is the most exciting ever known. The Pacific Railrord Company have combined with Blair to defeat the Republicans. The prospects are that two Radicals will be elected. The Legislature will do nothing until the contest is over. The fact that twenty-one vessels, containing 60, 40 bales of cotton, are detained at the bar below New Orleans, for want of water, is creating considerable stir. Vigorous measures will now be taken to deepen the channel.

An explosion occurred at Bullard's mill in Chickasaw county, Miss., killing a son of Mr. Bullard, a person named Sykes, and a colored man. Another person was scalded, it is feared Lima advices to the 25th December state that an attempt to assassinate the President was made on the night of the 20th December in Callao. The shot passed through his sleeve. The assassin, a Chilian, has not been arrested. In the Maryland Senate on Saturday a resolution was passed, and was concurred in by the House of Delegates, providing for the ap-pointment of a joint committee to consider what legislation is necessary in relation to keeping the harbor of Baltimore free from obstruction by ice. The Judiciary Committee reported a bill repealing and re-enacting with amend-ments to the article of the Code relating to the writ of habeas corpus. The Finance Committee reported an appropriation of $5,000 in favor of the Maryland "Disabled Soldiers' Home." The same committee reported against the resolution proposing to suspend the payment of bouncies to former slaves enlisted or drafted into the army. The minority of the Commit-tee on elections reported in favor of Dr. Ohr's right to a seat as Senator from Allegany county.

After meeting the House in joint convention and taking a ballot for United States Senator the Senate adjourned.

The House of Delegates reconsidered the vote rejecting and passed an order calling up-on the Governor for his correspondence with the President, Gen. Grant and others in rela-tion to the late election in the State and the removal of the Police Commissioners. The Baltimore Police bill was reported. It pro-vides for three Commissioners, one for each Legislative District, to be elected by the Legislature, but does not name them.

LOUISIANA -Owing to the failure of the cotton crop, planters are willing to sell a portion of their large tracts to Yankees and niggers. of their large tracts to Yankees and niggers. In many cases, farms and parts of farms have been sold to the slaves that formerly worked on them, a little cash being paid down, the balance in cotion to be grown in future years; but in many parts of the State, life, and especially black life, is terribly insecure. Murders of the poor blacks are so common that they are scarcely noticed. Civil law there is, but no justice. In Mississippi, parts of Tennessee and Arkansas, Union men find no better chance of justice than the negro. Louisiana stands rather justice than the negro. Louisiana stands rather better; but through all the South the difficulty is that there is not sufficient power in the Freedmen's Bureau. There are but few of the counties that have an agent, and without the military they can do but little in any county. In some counties an agent would not be safe himself.

A GIFT TO THE POOR.—A London police-man baving a claim for $750,000, applied to a lawyer to institute legal proceedings for its recovery. The lawyer took charge of the case, making it a condition that, in case of success, the claimant should give $125,000 to his poor relatives, and $125,000 to the London hospitals. The cause was gained, and the peliceman has performed both conditions—considering the $500,000 left him ample fortune to satisfy the wants of a man who for all his pre-vious life had scarcely any fortune at all.

A GOOD MEASURE. - Efforts are in progress to induce the present session of the New Jersey Legislature to pass a law requiring the fencing in of all wheels, saws, belting and other dangerous machinery in manufacturing establishments and elsewhere, by which life and limb are so much jeopardized. This is a good movement, and will be the means of preventing manufacturing establishments and will be the means of preventing manufacturing. ing many accidents.

.... A Very False and Truant Lover-a Three.

Wived Railroad Engineer. The St. Louis Democrat of the 14th instant tells the following story: Edward True was a gay and festive engineer on the Kirkwood accommodation train. He possessed that free and open manner which, united with youth, good looks and a surplus of spending money, rever fails to win the hearts of a certain class of young ladies. The good looking young engineer put up at the Kirkwood Hotel, where he soon became acquainted with Emma Sun, the pretty chan bermaid of the establish ment. Emma was about eighteen years of age, spruce in her dress and fond of admiration. It was not long before True was Sunstruck, and in an equally short time the Sunflower turned to him as the god of her idolatry. The result of this billing and cooing was a wedding. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Mitchell, of the Presbyterian Church, and for two weeks the honeymoon was undimmed by a cloud. True brought his bride to St. Louis and sent her to a boarding house on Seventh street, near the Pacific depot, and visited her regular when he came to the city. About two weeks ago the inconstant engineer married a Miss McLaughlin, living within a mile of Kirkwood-an innocent, unsophisticated girl of fifteen, living with her parents, who are people of respectability and worth. On the wedding day Dennis McLaughlin, the brother of the bride, a steward on the river, returned heme from a visit to Odin, Ill. He had received intimation that Translation He had received intimation that True had told him it was only a sham marriage.
The knot had been tied by Mr. Mills, of Webster Grove, and could not be untied in a day: and the brother told True he should have nothing to do with his sister until the matter was cleared up. True and McLaughlin occupied the same room on the night of the wedding, leaving the young bride "weeping, sad and lonely" in the bridal chamber. Knowing his own guilt, True made an arrangement with the bride to meet him at the station the follow-ing day, and fly with him on the wings of love to some sunny spot, where hard hearted brothers come not, and parents are unknown. Mc-Laughlin and True both came to St. Louis the next day, and, as the former was getting on the train at 14th street, he saw True, who, on get-ting sight of him, jumped off, and in this way the contemplated elopement was frustrated. McLaughlin had sworn to kill True if it turned McLaughlin had sworn to kill True if it turned out that he had wronged his sister by marrying her while he had another wife, and for this reason the fast engineer was anxious to avoid the brother of his victim. It was ascertained, beyond doubt, that True was a wight mist; and several days ago Emma appeared had been a before whom a before Justice Cunningham, before whom a

Lastly, our Mordeaux practitioner asserts that the sting of the wasp is a sovereign remedy for gout, sciatica and rheumatism. This may nodoubt be explained by the principle of counter irritation; but how does he apply this remedy? It seems that this is his secret, which he is not willing to divulge. London Snowed Up.

The London Telegraph of the 3d inst. describes the effects of the heavy show storm in hat city, which seems to have been an unusual occurrence:

"The widest thoroughfares were so blocked by drifts that the passage along them was but a narrow lane. By such difficult roads toiled the wretched cattle, in sorrier plight even than that which is almost their normal cendition : and the cut of the lash came oftener and louder than ever. Oddly matched were the steeds that worked for the first time together. . Giraffes' and 'frames' of all sizes pulled twoand-two, most inharmoniously. In every case of tandem it was ludicrously evident that the trace-horse had never been used to that kind of thing, and he was dragged along willy-nilly by the leader, on whose back was usually to be seen an amateur postulion. Railway vans and business carts of every kind were drawn by at least a double complement of horse-power; and even then the wheels often stuck. In the central and busier districts of London, the snow was soon trodden into a yellowish brown mire; and the churning process, which continued throughout the cay, gradually converted the filth into slush that was filthier still. At the st cemeteries, where funerals are tainly no less frequent than they are in other seasons of the year, the graves dug for those to whom no merry Christmas will ever come again were half filled up by the night's beavy fall; and there seemed to be a literal fulfillment of Campbell's line, 'The snow shall be their winding-sheet.' The cold continued as bitter all day as it had been all night, though the wind lulled soon after dawn. Long icicles depended from window ledges and other outward projections exposed fully to the freezing almosphere; and at last winter did hang out his ensigns, with a fierce prodi-gality about which there could be no mistake.

"It would be curious to ascertain how much, or how little, shopping was done at the West End. Not a lady was to be seen out or doors; and the chairs in tempting shops like those of Lewis and Allenby, or Swan and Edgar, stood in long empty rows for the spruce young men to count, because they'd nothing else to do. It is a positive fact that many tradesmen shut up shop at once, and gave their servants a queer sort of holidar. We received a more dismal impression of metropolitan life at this festive period than he had yesterday the unavoidable means of getting from the sight of London WHAT CONSTITUTES A GENTLEMAN!-Mr.

Leonard W. Jerome has given $5,000 in United States bonds to Princeton College, the interest of which is to be expended annually in the purchase of a medal, to be awarded to the graduate who shall be declared each year, by a vote of his classmates, to be the "first gentleman in his class." In his letter to Dr. McLean President of the College, Mr. Jerome observes that he has not forgotten a remark made by the doctor to Mr. Jerome's class whilst the latter was in college, when the doctor said. Advise you to get a little manners." This remark, Mr. Jerome thinks, is still applicable, and that the most pressing necessity of Young America just now is the article then recommended by Dr. McLean. As to what constitutes the character of a gentlemen, the denormand tutes the character of a gentleman, the donor of the $5,000 says that "due regard for the feelings of others" lies at the foundation of it.
